

The Gradual Unveiling of the Holy Spirit

Annemarie S. Kidder, PhD, IHM Associate

Saturday, May 11, 9:30am-12:30pm

Suggested Offering: $25

The emergence of the Holy Spirit in Scripture is a gradual process. It begins with creation in the book of Genesis, extends to the anointing of leaders, kings, and prophets of the people of God, manifests itself as the sacred mediator between Jesus and the Father in prayer and Jesus' working of miracles, and finds its culmination in the manifestation upon the earliest Christians at Pentecost.

This session will examine the divine Spirit's characteristics and offer a brief overview of "Spirit" manifestations in both the Old and New Testaments. Doing so will help us address, locate, and enlist the Holy Spirit in our own lives and ministry.

Annemarie S. Kidder, PhD, is an ordained Presbyterian minister and pastor of Pennfield Presbyterian Church of Battle Creek, MI. A former seminary professor, she is the author and editor of ten books on historical theology, spirituality, and biblical studies. Some of her more recent works are Making Confession, Hearing Confession (Liturgical Press), Karl Rahner's The Mystical Way in Everyday Life, and Ultimate Price: Testimonies of Christians Who Resisted the Third Reich (Orbis Books).
